RE: ACSC Bulletin: Sustainable Communities Strategy Recommendations

Dear Honorable Council Member:

The "SCS" (Sustainable Communities Strategy) part of SCAG's half trillion dollar 2016 – 2040 RTP/SCS regional plan is centered around social justice and social equity, which are schemes to redistribute tax dollars for environmental programs, the poor and protected classes. SBCOG is tasked with implementing SCAGs vision in San Bernardino through the Countywide Vision. Experts have opined and forecasted for the past few decades that people must "conserve" in many aspects of their lives in order to save the planet from the evils of CO2, the alleged cause of global warming. Central planners have advocated massive changes in population lifestyles to accomplish the goal of reducing CO2. For example, experts claim that the younger people a.k.a. millennials, "embrace quality of space" as opposed to "quality of life" as their credo, opting for a conservation-centric shared-economic lifestyle. It is alleged that they don't like to drive cars and therefore seek alternative mobility options like walking, biking, and mass-transit. Planners state that millennials prefer to live in apartments in lieu of single family homes, claiming that this is a primary driver for urbanization of suburb communities. This is used to promote the fallacy that Millennial "wants" somehow form a catalyst for centralized planning through the socialist behavior modification scheme called SCS – SCS does not embrace wants; it dictates needs.

In the introduction of SCAGS 2016 – 2040 RTP/SCS claims that Millennials:

- P12 Millennials, born between 1980 and 2000, will have an increasingly greater impact on how and where we live and how we travel.
- P13 Millennials, are already embracing some of these mobility innovations and are likely to be early adopters as new ones emerge.
- P14 Minimizing transportation and housing costs remains a priority.
- P15 Direct improvements to the transportation system can increase mobility. Two examples are speeding up train service and relieving congestion on highways. Improving accessibility requires better coordinating our investments for how we use land with our investments for transportation. Developing housing, businesses and other "Transit Oriented Development" around train stations, for example, improves accessibility.

At the SBCOG City Managers Technical Advisory Meeting on January 11, 2018: Hasan Ikhrata, president of SCAG disputes claims in the RTP/SCS:

• ...the reason for increased congestion and declining transit ridership, the transit ridership declining nationally and declining in the SCAG region by a significant percentage including our ridership here in San Bernardino.

- And one reason is the following statistic, so between 2000 and 2015, the SCAG region added 2.3 million people.
- The same period from 2000-2015, the SCAG region added 2.3 million vehicles, 2.3 million cars which is 4 times the rate of the 80's and 90's.

So this idea that millennials are not loving their car or not loving to live the way the baby boomers is not proving to be the case – Hasan Ikhrata

He basically has conceded, because of increased vehicle traffic, that SCAGs predictions are wrong and people are not going to give up their cars in lieu of buses, trains, and bike lanes.

Millennials don't want mass-transit mobility; they want to drive their own car and live in their own house.

The regional SCAG RTP/SCS plan is flawed; therefore, tax increases like Measure M sales tax, SB1 gas tax increase and extending Cap and Trade are flawed. Further, any proposed tax increases to support the plan are false. Therefore,

Why are local Councils of Governments (GOGs), like SBCOG, pushing sustainability and trying to raise taxes and fees, to socially reengineer cites, when they know that plans are flawed?

Recommendations

- 1. Rescind Countywide Vison Statement (see attached) The Countywide Vision statement that your city signed promotes sustainability through social justice and social equity in San Bernardino County. We recommend that your city rescind this resolution as an example to the community and to protect taxpayers.
- 2. Direct staff to avoid all sustainability grants, including grants from SCAG and SBCOG.
- 3. Cancel your membership in SCAG and SBCOG until they can offer plans void of sustainability elements.
